OSTEOPATHIC OATH

I do hereby affirm my loyalty to the profession I am about to enter.

I will be mindful always of my great responsibility to preserve the health and life of my patients, to retain confidence and respect both as a physician and a friend who will guard their secrets with scrupulous honor and fidelity, to perform faithfully my professional duties, to employ only those recognizable methods of treatment consistent with good judgement and with my skill and ability, keeping in mind always nature's laws and the body's inherent capacity of recovery.

I will be ever vigilant in aiding the general welfare of the community, sustaining its laws and institutions, not engaging in those practices which will in any way bring shame or discredit upon myself or my profession. I will give no deadly drugs to any, though it be asked of me.

I will endeavor to work in accord with my colleagues in a spirit of progressive cooperation, and never by word or by act cast imputations upon them or their rightful practices.

I will look with respect and esteem upon all those who have taught me my art. To my college I will be loyal and strive always for its best interests and for the interests of the students who will come after me. I will ever be alert to adhere to and develop the principles and practices of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery as taught in this college.

In the presence of this gathering I bind myself to my oath.

Dedication

On the first day of our journey to becoming physicians we met Dr. Thompson. From that point forward, he has always made himself available to us, never too busy to take the time to listen to our concerns, whether or not it was school related. He has always been the voice of reason and able to formulate a plan to help us solve our insurmountable problems. Dr. Thompson has always been our advocate, whether presenting our side of an issue to the administration, or setting us straight when necessary.

After completion of our second year we parted company, only to find out that Dr. Thompson would continue to be with us for the remainder of our education. His attitude and availability to the students continued to be consistent with our earlier experiences. His office door continued to remain open to the students at all times.

Dr. Thompson continues to be a wealth of information, a source of guidance, and a friend to each of us. We are very grateful, as a class, to have had the good forture of his leadership throughout our four years at UMDNJ-SOM.

Now with the passage of four years and much hard work, we are graduating physicians. It is at this time we reflect and realize the vital contribution Dr. Thompson has made to our nurturing as future physicians. We hope that in some small way this dedication will serve as a constant reminder of his diligent effort to make our transition as smooth as possible.

With this, we dedicate this yearbook to Dr. Robert Thompson, with many thanks for all that he has done.

Doctors

They work with herbs and penicillin.
They work with gentleness and the scalpel.
They dig out the cancer,
close an incision
and say a prayer
to the poverty of the skin.
They are not Gods though they would like to be;
they are only a human trying to fix up a human.
Many humans die.
They die like the tender, palpitating berries in November.
But all along the doctors remember:
First do no harm.
They would kiss if it would heal.
It would not heal.

If the doctors cure
then the sun sees it.
If the doctors kill
then the earth hides it.
The doctors should fear arrogance
more than cardiac arrest.
If they are too proud,
and some are,
then they leave home on horseback
but God returns them on foot.

Dean's Message

Dr. Frederick J. Humphrey II
Dean, School of Osteopathic Medicine

Congratulations are in order to each of you, the members of the UMDNJ-School of Osteopathic Medicine Class of 1990. Over the past twelve years, the students of UMDNJ-SOM have developed a proud tradition of accomplishment ranking among the elite of the osteopathic medical students. Your Class of 1990 has upheld this proud tradition of excellence, and we are obviously quite proud of each and every one of you.

As you look around, you can see the many changes occurring in the development of the unified campus at Stratford. For those of you completing your internships and residencies in our system, you will purse your postgraduate studies elsewhere, we encourage you to return to your Alma Mater to witness out growth and development.

When we look toward the 21st Century, it is both an exciting and challenging time for each new physician. You have been trained in the latest skills and technology of medicine. You have learned treatment and prevention modalities unknown to man a decade ago. At the same time, medicine, with its daily discoveries, is ever changing. You are trained to be open to the new discoveries, to determine where and how to use new medical regimes in practice, to question and seek answers, and to constantly learn. While your future is bright as an osteopathic physician, there are many medical problems facing you generation. The challenges of conquering such problems as AIDS, aging, mental disorders, drug and alcohol addition, eating disorders, health promotion, etc., are before you. While new technology allows you to practice medicine as never before, you must always remember that the physician's role is to enrich the quality of life for patients so that it is worth living. You have the skills to carry out the work of this most noble of professions. While exotic drugs make miracles seem commonplace today, you must always remember that no drug can ever replace the healing hands of well-trained, attentive and dedication physician.

As you enter the healthcare marketplace, you will see a saturation of well-trained physicians prepared to practice medicine. However, you are unique. You have been prepared to be the best physician the world has ever known, an Osteopathic Medical Doctor. You have all the knowledge and skills to pursue the choices you want in the future while being steeped in the long and proud tradition of a century of care giving skills. The work is hard; the rewards great. We are very proud of each of you. Our best wishes to you and yours always for health, happiness and success.

— Ann Sexton

"Your pain is the breaking of the shell that encloses your understanding.
Even as the stone of the fruit must break, that it's heart may stand in the sun, so must you know pain.
And could you keep your heart in wonder at the daily miracles of your life, your pain would not seem less wondrous than your joy;
And you would accept the seasons of your heart, even as you have always accepted the seasons that pass over your fields.
And you would watch with serenity through the winters of your grief.

Much of your pain is self-chosen.
It is the bitter potion by which the physician within you heals your sick self.
Therefore trust the physician, and drink his remedy in silence and tranquility.
For his hand, though heavy and hard,
is guided by the tender hand of the unseen.
And the cup he brings, though it burn your lips, has been fashioned of the clay which the Potter has moistened with His own sacred tears."

Kahlil Gibran

The Rime of the Ancient Mariner

But soon there breathed a wind on me,
Nor sound nor motion made:
It's path was not upon the sea,

It mingled strangely with my fears,
Yet it felt like a welcoming.

The Road Not Taken

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth.

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I-
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

the things I can not change, the courage to change the things I can and the wisdom to know the difference.

What I hear I forget
What I see I remember
What I do I know
— Chinese Proverb

Catherine R. Trader

Stand with your face towards the sun and let all your shadows fall behind you.

Gregg H. Tuttle

In medicine, if you're not current and don't think about it, you'll often miss what's right under your nose.

Mark R. Welber

"It has been a long hard road, but it was well worth the effort."

Robert P. Wooton, Jr.

"The talk is cheap, but the pizza will cost you . . . one dollar a slice."

The Guy in the Glass

When you get what you want in your struggle for self,
And the world makes you "King" for a day,
Then go to the mirror and look at yourself
And see what that guy has to say.

For it isn't your father, or mother, or wife
Whose judgement on you must pass;
The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life
Is the guy staring back from the glass.

He's the fellow to please - never mind all the rest,
For he's with you clear to the end.
And you've passed your most dangerous, difficult task
If the guy in the glass is your friend.

You may be like Jack Horner and "chisel" a plum
And think you're a wonderful guy.
But the man in the glass says you're only a bum
If you can't look him straight in the eye.

You can fool the world down the pathway of years
And get pats on the back as you pass,
But your final reward will be heartaches and tears,
If you've cheated the guy in the glass.
